

12 thousand spectators at Algarve International Race Track

About 12,500 spectators attended, from 4 to 6 September, the evidence of the Blancpain Sprint Series and the FIA Formula 3 European Championship at the Autodromo Internacional do Algarve. Laurens Vanthoor and Robin Frijns were the big winners of the sprint race and Formula 3 stood out Felix Rosenqvist, who managed to win his ninth win of the season.

The dual Belgian-Dutch, winners of the race of the Blancpain Series Sprint, succeeded in Portimão stroke reach the third win of the season. Markus Winkelhock and Niki Mayr-Melnhof were and 2nd place, his best result since the beginning of his participation in the race, while Marco Seefried and Norbert Siedler reached the 3rd place after passing in front of the Bentley Continental Team HTP.

Swedish ago 23, Rosenqvist, who won the lead in the overall classification of the European Championship of Formula 3, were Jake Dennis and Lance Stroll (Prema Powerteam) who finished second and third, respectively.

Marked by the debut of the FIA ??Formula 3 European Championship and the return of Blancpain, the Portimão circuit also received the Racing Weekend, National Speed Championship, which complements the end-to-week with even more excitement and adrenaline.